THE COMPANIES ACT 1985

COMPANY LIMITED BY GUARANTEE

OBLIGATIONS

1. Extent, Introduction and Principles

The Obligations of Membership of the British Sign and Graphics Association (BSGA) set out below, and any alterations or additions which may be made from time to time in accordance with the BSGA Articles of Association, shall be binding on and be observed in letter and spirit, by every Member and the word "Member" in these obligations and any alterations or additions shall be construed accordingly.

It is expected that Members of the BSGA will at all times conduct their business affairs in a professional, honest and decent manner towards their clients, customers, the general public, their employees or representatives, other members of the BSGA (and its Officers) and anyone else with whom they may come into contact for business purposes.

It is additionally expected that Members of the BSGA shall be bound to further to the best of their ability the objects, interests and influence of the BSGA and shall observe and follow all current laws, by-laws, legislation and any codes in force.

Supplementary to the above, Members of the BSGA will also strive to provide training and educational opportunities to their employees or representatives wherever possible in order to offer a fully qualified and competent workforce who have received accepted standards of training in all relevant aspects of signmaking and have achieved the appropriate levels of qualification.

Memorandum 4c-(1) of the Association states that one of its objectives shall be "to promote a high standard of quality, design, workmanship and good commercial practice within the sign industry." In compliance with this clause the BSGA will from time to time prepare and publish Technical Guidelines in regard to signs and materials used in the manufacture of signs and will take any other steps that may be desirable in order to provide standards of size, quality and practice for the guidance of signmakers.

It is understood that by being a Member of the BSGA, all those employed and associated with the Member's Business will uphold the above Principles at all times.

Should any Member be found to be failing to uphold any of these Principles, then, after due consideration by the BSGA Council of all the relevant facts, the BSGA Council shall be entitled to, at its own discretion, terminate the Membership with immediate effect and without any refund of Membership Fee. Termination in this way, overrides any consideration or clauses set out in the Articles of Association.

2. BSGA Emblem

No emblem other than the emblem approved by BSGA Council shall be used by Members to indicate membership of the BSGA. The member is only entitled to use the BSGA Emblem appropriate to their Membership level or description.

3. Planning - General

Members shall at all times ensure that customers are aware of their statutory obligations under the:

Town and Country Planning (Control of Advertisements) Regulations 2007 (as amended) for England or,

Town and Country Planning (Control of Advertisements) Regulations 1992 for Wales or,

Town and Country Planning (Control of Advertisements) (Scotland) Regulations 1984 for Scotland or,

Planning (Control of Advertisements) (Northern Ireland) 1992 for Northern Ireland or, any regulations superseding these Regulations. Customers should be advised of any local regulations or controls of which the Member has knowledge, but Members are not expected to be responsible for customers' obligations in respect of tenancy agreements, landlords' controls and the like.

4. Statutory Requirements

Signs and work carried out on sign installations shall comply with the Health & Safety at Work Act 1974 and all other relevant legislation.

5. Standards

The design, construction and installation of signs shall conform to the British Standard BS559 and/or any other European Standard that is relevant and that is current at the time that the sign is either designed and/or constructed and/or supplied and/or installed.

6. Power Factor Correction

A Statement indicating whether or not power-factor correction is included shall be incorporated in all quotations for illuminated signs. This applies to all signs illuminated by fluorescent lamps, cold-cathode (neon) tubing or floodlighting. The statement should include either of the following:

- a) The quotation includes for the provision of power-factor correction to better than 0.85 lagging; or
- b) The quotation does not include for the cost of power-factor correction. If such correction is required by the local Electricity Supply Company it will be charged extra.

Note 1: Illuminated signs having inductive components such as transformers or chokes should include suitable power-factor correction. For small premises, the requirement for adequate power-factor correction is normally part of the customer's agreement with the supply company. For larger premises, the customer may pay a premium based on KVA demand. The value of KVA demand is affected by the overall power factor of the premises.

Note 2: Power-factor correction may be included in the circuits of illuminated signs as part of a filter to reduce the amount of interference (generated by the lamp) reaching the mains-supply cables. This may be necessary to comply with the requirements of the EMCD.

7. Warranty

Members shall observe the accepted standard against all failures due to faulty workmanship (including installation where the Member is responsible) or materials on the part of the supplier as set out in BS559 relevant at the time of manufacture, supply or installation.

8. Territory

These Obligations shall apply to signs sold for use in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, though Members should be aware that many of the Standards referred to in 5 above have equivalent in force elsewhere in Europe.

9. Additional Obligations

In addition to the above Obligations which are mandatory it is required that the following Code of Practice be complied.

CODE OF PRACTICE

1. Planning - Application for Consent

Every Member should attach to all estimates and quotations or acknowledgements of orders for signs, advice advising the customer that they may be subject to the provisions of the applicable current regulations for planning consent.

2. Technical Standards for the construction of signs

Signs should be constructed, installed and maintained in accordance with the advice given in the relevant BSGA Technical Guidelines (12)
